At the same time, the Yamaha P 45B also feels like a real piano. This is thanks to the weighted keys (Graded Hammer Standard weighted action) which are designed to feel just like analog keys.This balance is achieved because the low end is slightly heavier than the high end, which means if you're used to playing on an upright or grand piano, you'll be able to adapt to the feel of this model ...

After reading the users manual I got quite concerned of the risks on wiring the instrument to any other adpater than yamaha's ones. Evendo, due to the current situation on Covid in my country, it is very difficult to find one. And so, a person told me I could use any other adapter if it fitted to 12V and 1A.
